INDEX
Chiang Kai-shek—Continued
Warning, May 12, to President Roosevelt of possible German attack upon Soviet Union, 187
Warnings, July 2 and 4, of possible
Japanese attack upon Soviet Union, 289, 994
Chiang Kai-shek, Madame: Criticism of American-British attitude toward China, 396; radio address, Oct. 10,
analysis by Department official,
552-553
China (see also Atlantic Conference;
Chiang Kai-shek; and China questions under Growing tension):
British arrangements for control of all exports to China except by
Burma Road, 867-868
Extraterritorial rights in China, exchange of notes with United States regarding, 208-209
Interest in conversations between
United States and Japan, 208-
209, 225-227, 238-239, 241-242,
268-269, 395-396, 419-420, 421-
422, 435, 436-441, 444-445, 447-
449, 450, 459, 461, 491-492, 499,
503, 635n, 640, 646-647, 650-654,
660-661, 680-681, 699, 705-706,
708-709, 711-713
Japanese basic peace terms for China
(Sept. 23). See under Conversations between United States and Japan: Aug. 6-Oct. 16: Draft proposals.
Offer to organize volunteer corps in Philippines, 759
Reaction to Moscow consultations between United States, British, and Soviet representatives, 503
Soviet aid to China, 3, 112, 281, 913-
914, 954, 970, 991, 1014, 1015,
1017
U. S. aid to China, 288-289
U. S. policy regarding control of exports to Shanghai, 791-792, 797,
808-809, 822-823, 842, 864, 866-
867, 902
Views and reaction to signature of Japanese-Soviet non-aggression agreement, 182-183, 948, 949,
951-952, 955-956, 970
Churchill, Winston:
Broadcast, Aug. 24, referring to Japanese aggression and U. S.-
Japanese conversations, 394, 395,
397
Correspondence with President Roosevelt regarding coordination of declaration of war with Japan,
732-733, 735
Meeting with President Roosevelt.
See Atlantic Conference.
Note to Japanese Foreign Minister visiting at Moscow, 927-928,
929-930, 938-939, 940, 967-969
Churchill, Winston—Continued
Reply to President Roosevelt’s message regarding modus vivendi with Japan, 655, 667
Conversations between United States and Japan:
Jan. 1-2: May 11, preliminary phase,
1-184 passim
Interest of Australian, British, and Netherlands Governments in conversations, 39-41, 41n
Proposals for general settlement of Pacific area, presented by private Americans and Japnese: Arrangements and discussions regarding, 1-2, 4-6,
10-16, 17-18, 21-29, 31-36,
49-53, 54-55, 56-58, 61, 63-65,
69-74, 81, 90-97, 111-112,
113-117, 119-122, 123-125,
130-131, 132-139, 142-143,
148-149, 154-155, 161, 172-173, 174, 178-182; text of preliminary draft agreement sponsored by Japanese (Mar. 16-17), 95-96, 97-107; text of tentative U. S. counterdrafts to Apr. 9 proposal sponsored by Japanese, 143-146, 149-150,
159-161
Summaries and memoranda of informal conversations between Ambassador Nomura, President Roosevelt, and Secretary
Hull, 39-41, 65-68, 77-79, 163
Views and recommendations of
Department officials, 42, 62-
63, 75-76, 146-147, 152-154
May 12-Aug. 5, consideration of Japanese proposal of May 12, and interruption of conversations following Japanese military penetration of French Indochina,
184-363 passim
Axis knowledge of conversations,
British report of, 210
Draft proposals:
May 12: Japanese draft: Comments and counterdrafts of private Americans, 184-186,
200-201, 221-223; Japanese
note regarding proposal, 186;
views and recommendations of
Department officials, 190-
194, 196-197, 215-221, 223-
224, 232-233, 239-241
June 8: Japanese draft: Com-parsion with text of May 31
U. S. draft, 256-259; views and recommendations of Department officials, 260-262,
265-266
June 21: U. S. oral statement:
Draft suggested by Department officials, 270-272; plan for acceptance of return by
Japanese, 323-324
Conversations, etc.—Continued

May 12—Aug. 5—Continued

Draft proposals—Continued

July 11 Japanese draft received through private Americans, 303-304, 311-321
July 24 suggestion by President Roosevelt for neutralization of French Indochina and Thailand, 345, 347-348, 351-352, 353-354, 358, 359-360, 360-361
Interest of other countries in conversations: Canada, 253-254; China, 208-209, 225-227, 235-239, 241-242, 268-269; United Kingdom, 200, 210-212, 233-234

Japanese military penetration of French Indochina and conclusion of treaty with Vichy Government July 21, 338

Opinions, recommendations, and reports of Ambassador Greely, 224, 228-232, 247-248, 252-254, 258, 299-300, 343, 355-354
Publicity regarding, 206-207, 252-253

Aug. 6-Oct. 16, renewed insistence of Japan upon its peaceful purposes—resumption of conversations, 363-511 passim, 527-539

Delays in conversations, 463-464, 464-465, 468

Draft proposals:

Aug. 6 Japanese draft, U. S. reply prepared at the Atlantic Conference, and Department's revisions, 370-376

Sept. 4 and 6, Japanese drafts, views and recommendations of Department officials regarding, 428-429, 432-435, 436, 440-450, 470, 480-481

Sept. 25 Japanese basic peace terms for China: Delivery of terms to Ambassador Greely and to the Department, 457-458, 464, 467, 476; Japanese oral statement to Ambassador Greely (Sept. 25), 476-477; views and recommendations of Department officials, 458-459, 471-472

Sept. 25 Japanese draft combining Sept. 21 U. S. redraft and Sept. 6 Japanese draft: Delivery of proposals and oral statement to Ambassador Greely and to Department,

Condition Aug. 6—Oct. 16—Continued

Draft proposals—Continued

Sept. 25—Continued

Meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Konoye, proposed. See Roosevelt-Konoye meeting.

Reaction in Japan to reports of conversations, 441-442, 450-451

Reaction of American public to conversations, 504-505

Resumption of conversations, Japanese request and President Roosevelt's reply, 379, 380

Summaries of conversations, 378-380, 423-425, 494-497

Oct. 17—Nov. 19, advent of Tojo Cabinet and redoubling of Japanese insistence upon early acceptance of proposals, 511-626 passim, 630-632

British interviews with Japanese regarding conversations, and transmission of Japanese suggestion of a modus vivendi in Pacific, 516-518, 555-588

Formal negotiations: Japanese interpretation of conversations as such, 587-588; U. S, intention of consulting other governments prior to entrance upon negotiations, 586-587

Fundamental difficulties under discussion: European War and Tripartite Pact, 516, 517; non-discrimination and equality of treatment in commercial matters, 516, 576-579, 589; withdrawal of Japanese forces from China and French Indochina, 516-517, 554, 555, 589, 593-596

Japanese insistence upon speedy conclusion of conversations, 563-564, 567, 588

Mission to United States of Saburo Kurusu, 566-567, 570, 584, 599, 625
Conversations, etc.—Continued
Oct. 17–Nov. 19—Continued
Outline of agreement suggested by Secretary of Treasury, 606–613; comments and revisions by Department and by Army and Navy, 622–625, 630–632
President Roosevelt’s proposed message to Japanese Emperor: Drafts, 513–514, 515, 521–522; Secretary Hull’s advice against sending, 520–521; views of Department officials, 514–515
Reports and suggestions of private Americans, 527–539, 555–558, 561–562
Speech of Foreign Minister Togo regarding, 603–605
Summaries of Nos. 18 conversation, 616–617, 618–621, 626
U. S. representations regarding Japanese editorial containing 7-point program of demands upon United States, 569, 573–574; Japanese reply, 576–577
Nov. 20–Dec. 7, Japanese efforts to effect a limited agreement or modus vivendi, and final phase of conversations, 622–729 passim, 731–732
Draft proposals:
Nov. 20 Japanese proposal for a modus vivendi, and counter drafts under consideration by United States:
President Roosevelt’s 6-months proposal, 626
President Roosevelt’s message to Prime Minister Churchill, 648–649; reply, 665–667
Secretary Hull’s decision, with President Roosevelt’s concurrence, to drop the counterdraft under consideration, 665–666, 683–684
Conversations, etc.—Continued
Nov. 20–Dec. 7—Continued
Draft proposals—Continued
Nov. 20, etc.—Continued
Views and recommendations of Department officials, 603–634
German attitude toward conversations, 704–705
President Roosevelt’s messages to Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Chiang Kai-shek (Dec. 6):
Drafts by Department officials and final approved text, 688, 697–698, 721–722, 723–726; oral statement of Japanese Foreign Minister (Dec. 8), 734; transmitted to the Chinese and Japanese, 727, 731–732
Proposed message to Congress regarding relations with Japan:
Drafts submitted by the Secretaries of War and Navy, 675–680, 688, 698; final compromise draft, 689–697
Reports and suggestions of private Americans, 641, 702–703
Termination of conversations, probability of: British inquiries, 681–682, 684–685; desire of Australian, British, and Netherlands Governments that relations be continued to provide time for preparations to resist in Pacific, 700; Japanese attitude, 714, 716; Secretary Hull’s warning to Ambassador Crew (Nov. 28), 682; Secretary Hull’s warning to Australians and British (Nov. 29) that diplomatic stage was over, 685–687; views and recommendations of Department officials, 672–675, 728–729
Currie, Lauchlin, 81–95, 167–169, 186, 361, 755
Davies, Joseph E., 108–111, 370–371
Economic measures affecting trade with Japan (see also Freezing of Japanese assets and Petroleum products), 774-904

Canadian request for U.S. cooperation in control of asbestos shipments to Far East, 802; U.S. reply, 805

Japanese economic situation and its effect upon policy, 589-591

Japanese regulations affecting Americans and American holdings, 794-795, 843, 896

United Kingdom:
Arrangements for control of all exports to China except by Burma Road, 867-868

Comments of British Ambassador on Japanese Vice Foreign Minister’s speech (Apr. 10), 813-814

Measures to prevent re-exportation of U.S. products to occupied China from Hong Kong, 795, 815

Policy regarding export of manganese to Japan, 862

Request for U.S. views on subjecting Japanese vessel Asaka Maru to contraband control, 784-786, 795-797; U.S. reply, 786-787

Restrictions on exports to Japan, 783, 880-881

Suggestions to United States for coordination of plans and procedures, 774-776, 787-788, 788-791, 797-800, 825, 826-827, 828-832, 833, 841-842, 844, 873-875, 887-888, 891

Termination of treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan (1911) and conventions regarding commercial relations and trade and commerce between India, Burma, and Japan (1913, 1920), 843

United States:
Closing of Panama Canal for repairs (July 11), 301

Comments and recommendations by Department officials, 774, 783-784, 800-801, 832-833, 834, 844-850, 881-885

Emergency buying program for Philippine exports, 888-890

Extract from study project of Council on Foreign Relations, 781-782

Japanese barter proposal regarding tungsten, 811-813

Japanese Foreign Minister’s speech (Jan. 21), 8-9

Japanese representations regarding Philippine refusal of export permits, 819-820; U.S. reply, 823-824

Economic measures, etc.—Continued

United States—Continued

Navy Department study of effect upon Japan of an embargo of essential raw materials, 835-844

Policy regarding—
Control of exports to Shanghai, 791-792, 797, 808-809, 822-823, 842, 864, 866-867, 902
Embargo imposition in event of overt step by Japan, 301
Extension of credit facilities to Japanese banks, 809-811
Visits in U.S. ports of Japanese naval transports, 803, 816, 817-818
Report of Henry F. Grady on views and policies of Netherlands East Indies officials, 878-880
Vice President Wallace’s suggestions regarding trade embargo, 815-816
War Department attitude regarding imposition of restrictions on silk importations, 834

Emargoes. See Economic measures.

European War. See under Growing tension.

Export control. See Economic measures.

Extraterritorial rights in China, 208-209

France (see also French Indochina under Southward advance of Japan):
Interest in conversations between United States and Japan, 420-421, 452-454, 466; reports on developments in the Far East, 20-21, 118, 1017-1018; views and reactions to signature of Japanese-Soviet non-aggression agreement, 941, 953-954

Freezing of Japanese assets:
British restrictions on Japanese trade and payments in the British Empire, 880-881
Effect of freezing orders upon Japanese financial position, 894-895
Netherlands East Indies restrictions, 351, 397, 873-880, 893-894
U.S. freezing order (July 26): Arrangements regarding Japanese cargoes and vessels in U.S. ports, 351, 852-853, 857-858, 860-862, 866-870, 891-892, 895-896, 897, 900-901, 902-903; Department preparations for action, 832-833; interest of Netherlands Government in, 350-351; Japanese anticipation of U.S. order, 842-843; Japanese reaction to order, 344, 346-347; policy and procedures of United States in handling import applications, 846-848, 853-855; reciprocal arrangements with Japan regarding application of freezing orders to diplomatic, consular,
Growing tension, etc.—Continued
Bombing of U. S. S. Tuttul, 352–353, 365–370

China questions:
Japanese policy based on New Order in East Asia, 357–358
Operations of the Asia Development Board, 482
Visit to Japan of Wang Ching-wei and joint statement issued June 23, 286, 357, 988

Economic measures taken by United States affecting Japanese trade. See under Economic measures.
Efforts to restore good relations between United States and Japan:
Unofficial visit to United States of Saburo Kurusu, 2–3, 30–31, 71, 74, 108–111

Encirclement allegations of Japan, and U. S. denials, 391–393, 399–400, 408, 409–410

Evacuation from Japan of U. S. citizens, Ambassador Greer's views and recommendations, 431

Growing of Japanese assets—Con.

French Indochina and Thailand. See under Southward advance of Japan.

Germany (see also Axis powers and Soviet Union: German invasion): Interest in conversations between United States and Japan, 210, 704–705; reaction to signature of Japanese-Soviet nonaggression agreement, 959–961; Rumanian report of differences between Nazi leaders, 913–914; Schacht, Hjalmar, observations regarding a German rapprisement with China, 976

Grady, Henry F., report on views and policies of Netherlands East Indies officials, 878–880

Great Britain. See United Kingdom.

Grew, Joseph C. (see also Conversations between United States and Japan): Complaint regarding lack of information from Department, 229–300, 304–306; editorial from Japanese newspaper favorable to Grew, 376–377; letter to President Roosevelt (Sept. 22) expressing belief in Prime Minister Konoye, and the President's reply, 468–469, 500; plea for gesture by President Roosevelt toward Japanese people (Aug. 30), 416–418, 429; report of rumor of Japanese plans to attack Pearl Harbor, 17

Growing tension between United States and Japan arising from Japanese military aggression (see also Southward advance of Japan):
Airplane flights over Japanese Island of Taiwan (Nov. 20) and U. S. Island of Guam (Nov. 24), 698–699, 726

Growing tension, etc.—Continued
Japanese activities in the United States, suggested public hearings regarding, 431-432
Japanese troop movements southward, reports of, 633, 667, 669, 703-704, 719-720
Military conversations of British, Netherlands, and U.S. experts in Far East, 363, 389, 505-506
Political developments in Japan:
Attempted assassination of Baron Hiranuma and of Prime Minister Konoye, 365, 398n, 464, 531, 568
Cabinet changes, 69, 325-328, 328-329, 331-332, 336-338, 343-344, 354, 511, 512-513, 517, 519-520, 522-523, 529, 541-543, 553-554, 567-568; Secretary Hull's views, 325-326
German influence and pressure, 5, 6, 202-203
Morale of Japanese people, 408-409
Opposition to policies of Foreign Minister Matsumoto, 207
Sessions of Diet and speeches of Foreign Minister Matsumoto, 8-10, 18-20
Unified military command directly responsible to Emperor, establishment of, 443-444, 445-447
U.S. interest in "official views" from China and French Indochina predicting dates of future Japanese attacks on Siberia, Thailand, and Yunnan, 565-566; comments of Ambassador Gaus and Ambassador Grew, 570-573
Views and recommendations of Department officials regarding the situation in the Far East and U.S. policy, 147-148, 150-152, 162, 164-167, 357-358
War between United States and Japan, possibility of: Australian interest in U.S. role in Pacific war, 363-364; British inquiry (Dec. 4), and recommendation of Department official, regarding approach to Japanese for reciprocal agreement for withdrawal of officials, 714-716; British suggestion of emergency communications plan in Far East, and U.S. reply, 524-525, 711; Japanese attitude toward, 20-21, 43, 508, 540-541; Netherlands request for notification in Philippines regarding imminence of war, 688; report from Ambassador Grew of rumored Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor, 17; report from the Philippines of Japanese surprise attack plans, 699; Secretary Hull's warning to Ambassador Grew (Nov. 28),
Growing tension, etc.—Continued
War, etc.—Continued
682; Soviet attitude toward, 55; support of United States by Brazil, Peru, and the Philippines, 118-119, 256, 526; transference of U.S. fleet in Pacific to the Atlantic, British opinion regarding, 183-184; U.S. move to secure use of British and Netherlands airfields in Far East, 497-499; winds code telegrams of Japanese, interception of, 713
Hashimoto, T., 4-6, 10-13, 27-29, 31n, 49-51, 116, 140, 178
Hiranuma, Baron Kiiicho, 12, 16-17, 122, 128-130, 131-132, 140, 365, 398n, 568, 958-959
Hiss, Alger, 422-423, 876-878
Howard, Roy, 173, 174, 175
Hull, Cordell:
Report to Justice Owen J. Roberts (Dec. 30) on his warnings to War and Navy Departments of immediate danger of Japanese attack, 764-767
Statements: Jan. 15 before House Committee on Foreign Affairs, 9, 10; Jan. 27 before Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, 23; Apr. 14 regarding the Japanese-Soviet non-aggression agreement, 810, 947, 948-949
Warning to Ambassador Grew (Nov. 28), 652
Warnings to the British and Australians (Nov. 28), 655-657
Indochina, French. See French Indochina and Thailand under Southward advance of Japan.
Italy. See Axis powers.
Iwakuro, Col. Hideo, mission to United States, 52, 53, 69, 81, 116, 119, 127-128, 161
Kleiman, M., 1-2, 81
Konoye, Prince Fumimaro (see also Roosevelt-Konoye meeting in Pacific, proposed), attempted assassination of, 464, 531
Korea, arrest by Japanese of American missionaries in, 272, 282-283, 295-296, 297, 304, 323
Korean propaganda headquarters in Soviet territory, views of Department officials regarding proposal for, 762-763
Korean Volunteer Corps, letter from Chungking headquarters to President Roosevelt and other Americans, 757–758

Kurusu, Saburo, Special mission to United States, 566–567, 570, 584, 599, 625; unofficial visit to United States, 2–3, 30–31, 71, 74, 108–111

Lattimore, Owen, 361, 362, 652, 738–739

Magruder, Gen. John, 736, 750, 752, 755, 769–771

“Manchourkuo,” 38, 61, 73

Matsu, arrest by Japanese, 273, 282, 283, 295, 297

Matsuoka, Yosuke:

Speeches, 8–9, 18–20

Visit to Europe. See under Axis powers.

Monroe Doctrine, cited, 15, 25, 43, 61, 72, 95–96, 106

Netherlands (see also Netherlands East Indies under Southward advance of Japan): Declaration of war with Japan, 733–734; inquiry regarding U. S. granting of petroleum licenses to Japan while refusing funds for export, and U. S. reply, 876–878, 886–887; interest in conversations between United States and Japan, 41n, 454–455, 635n, 646–647, 651, 658–660, 669–670, 700; interest in U. S. freezing order, 350–351; participation in military conversations with U. S. and British experts in Far East, 363, 389, 505–506; request to United States for notification in Philippines regarding imminence of war, 888

Netherlands East Indies (see also under Southward advance of Japan), declaration of war with Japan, 735

Nomura, Adm. Kichisaburo (see also Conversations between United States and Japan), Swiss Ambassador's investigation of report that Ambassador Nomura and the Naval Attaché would commit hari kari, 748–749

Panama Canal, closed for repairs, 301

Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Ambassador Grew's report on rumored Japanese plans for attack upon, 17

Peru, support of United States in possible war with Japan, 118–119

Petroleum products, U. S. shipments to Soviet Union. See under Soviet Union.

Philippine Islands: Japanese representations regarding Philippine refusal of export permits, and U. S. reply, 819–820, 823–824; President Quezon's letter to President Roosevelt (Oct. 18), and President Roosevelt's reply, 526, 598; report from Filipines of Japanese surprise attack plans, 699; U. S. emergency buying program for Philippine exports, 888–890; U. S. representations to Soviet Union regarding Prada article criticizing policy of declaring Manila an open city, 767–768

Pratt, Adm. William V., conversation with Ambassador Nomura, 170–172
Sanctions. See Economic measures.

Shipping: Japanese: Cargo and vessels in U. S. ports at time of U. S. freezing order, 852-853, 857-858, 860-862, 865-870, 891-892, 895-896, 897, 900-901, 902-903; naval transports in U. S. ports, 903, 916, 817-818; Panama Canal closed for repairs, 301

Silk importation, U. S. restrictions and effect upon industry, 834, 865-866

Singapore, Japanese intentions regarding, 39, 47, 208, 921

Southward advance of Japan:

French Indochina and Thailand, Japanese aggression:

British concern and intentions regarding Thailand, 359-360, 701

British draft ultimatum to Japan, and Secretary Hull's counsel, 410-411

Chinese report of secret agreement, July 6, between Germany, Italy, and Japan, 1004, 1005

Economic negotiations between Japan and French Indochina, 141, 177

Japanese troop movements southward, reports of, 633, 667, 669, 703-704, 719-720

Mediation by Japan of the dispute between French Indochina and Thailand, 43-44, 141, 177, 922

President Roosevelt's neutralization proposal (July 24), 345, 347-348, 351-352, 353-354, 358, 359-360, 360-361

Reactions abroad to Japanese moves and effect upon Japan, 43-44, 47-49

Reports and rumors of Japanese intentions, 28-29, 1005-1009, 1015, 1019

Retaliatory economic measures taken by the British and U. S. Governments. See under Freezing of Japanese assets.

Treaty concluded by Japanese and Vichy Government (July 21), 338-339

Vichy Government's interest in the future of French Indochina, 452-454, 465

Southward advance of Japan—Con.
Netherlands East Indies—Continued
views of Chief of U. S. Naval Operations regarding Netherlands project to declare certain areas dangerous to shipping, 717–719
Singapore, Japanese intentions regarding, 39, 47, 208, 921
Soviet Union:
British Foreign Minister’s mission to Moscow, 759–760, 1027, 1028–
1029, 1029
China, Soviet assistance to, 3, 112, 281, 913–914, 954, 970, 991, 1014, 1015, 1017
German invasion of Soviet Union (June 22); Chinese reaction, 281– 282; evacuation preparations by German and Japanese Embassies, 978; Japanese reactions and policies regarding, 285–286, 287, progress of hostilities, 356–357, 1014–1015; rumors and reports of possible attack, 187, 931, 933, 939, 940, 943, 952–953, 959–960, 971, 972, 973, 975, 977–978; U. S. policy regarding, 278–281, 284–
285, 286–287, 293–294, 979, 987, 1015
Japanese intentions regarding Siberia: British suggestion of U. S.-
British warning to Japan, 558–
559, 960–961; comments and speculation of Department officials, 275, 276, 278–279, 288–289,
290, 981–982, 1020–1023; Japanese conditions for agreement, 1010–1011; rumors and reports regarding possible attack, 281–
282, 289–290, 294, 298–299, 310–
311, 355, 544, 742, 994, 995, 1004,
1008, 1012, 1015, 1016, 1017,
1018–1019, 1020, 1024–1025; Secretary Hull’s warning to Soviet Ambassador (Dec. 11), 742; Soviet suggestions of U. S. warning to Japan, 543–544, 1013–1014;
Japanese-Soviet negotiations regarding trade agreement and fisheries conventions, 44, 141, 907–909,
911, 914, 915, 956–957, 972–973,
974–975
Japanese-Soviet non-aggression agreement (Apr. 13):
Deadlock in negotiations, reports on, 3, 116, 905, 906–907, 909–
910, 911, 912–913, 914
Japanese expectations from agreement, 55–56, 58–60, 177

Soviet Union—Continued
Japanese-Soviet non-aggression—Con.
Japanese Foreign Minister’s visits to Moscow:
Conversations with U. S. Ambas-dador, 921–923, 932–933, 939–
941
Departure from Moscow, 953, 954
Meetings with Molotov and Stalin, 925, 929, 930, 933
Note from British Prime Minister: Arrangements for its delivery, 927–928, 938–940; Japanese Foreign Min-ister’s reply, 967–969; U. S. observations regarding text, 929–930
Purpose of visit, reports and speculation regarding, 913, 914, 915–916, 920–921, 923, 925
Statement to Chiefs of Mission of Axis and Associated Powers, 923–924
Résumé of negotiations prepared by U. S. Ambassador, 961–964
Secret clauses or understanding, 175–176, 907
Telegrams exchanged at time of ratification, 909–970
Text of agreement and declaration, 944–945, 957, 967
Views and reactions to signature: British, 950–951; Chinese, 182–183, 948, 949, 951–952, 955–956, 970; Chinese Communists, 965–966; French, 941, 953–
954; Germans, 959–961; Jews,
945, 957, 991, 1029; U. S. Ambas-dador at Moscow, 942–944, 945–947, 954–955, 964–965; U. S. Secretary of State, 810, 947, 948–949
Trans-Siberian Railway shipments from Far East to Germany, 911–
912, 966–967, 972
U. S. shipments of petroleum and military supplies to Vladivostok, and Japanese opposition, 298, 301–302, 397–398, 400–403, 405– 407, 420, 425, 429–430, 442–443,
575–576, 1002–1003, 1017, 1019
War in the Pacific, following Japanese attack upon United States: Soviet reactions and decision to remain neutral, 730–731, 738, 742–744,
746, 747, 755–756, 1026–1027, 1027–1028, 1029–1030; Soviet reply to President Roosevelt’s proposal regarding military and naval conferences at Chungking,
Singapore, Moscow, and Washington, 760; U. S. representations regarding Pravda article criticizing policy of declaring Manila an open city, 767–768
United Kingdom—Continued
U. S. Commission to Investigate Facts and Circumstances of Japanese Attack upon Pearl Harbor, Secretary Hull's report to Chairman of, 764-767
U. S. Congress, bills and resolution regarding embargo on petroleum products to Japan, 817, 820-821, 824
U. S. fleet in Pacific, British opinion regarding transfer of part to the Atlantic, 183-184
U. S. foreign policy:
Aid to United Kingdom and other countries resisting aggression, 6-8, 37-38, 42, 79-80
Japan. See Axis powers; Conversations between United States and Japan; Economic measures; Growing tension; Southward advance of Japan; and War in the Pacific.
War in the Pacific—Continued
Offer of the Chinese to organize a volunteer corps in the Philippines, 759
Secretary Hull's report, Dec. 30, to Justice Owen J. Roberts on his warnings to War and Navy Departments of immediate danger of Japanese attack, 764—767
Soviet reactions and decision to remain neutral, 730—731, 738, 742—744, 746, 747, 755—756, 1026—1027, 1027—1028, 1029—1030
Swiss Minister's investigation of report that Ambassador Nomura and Japanese Naval Attaché would commit hari kari, 748—749
Transcripts of radio broadcasts from Japan on Dec. 8 (Japan time), 771—773
Unification and coordination of joint action against Japan:
Message of President Roosevelt to Gen. Chiang Kai-shek suggesting Chiang's establishment as Supreme Commander of the Chinese Theatre, 763—764
Messages of President Roosevelt to British, Chinese, and Soviet Governments proposing military and naval conferences at Chungking, Singapore, Moscow, and Washington, and their replies, 751—753, 757, 759—760, 762; Australian interest in conferences, 758—759
Proposals of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, 736, 740, 754, 762
Suggestions of Secretary Hull to the British and Chinese Ambassadors, 746—747, 749—750
Views and recommendations of Department officials, 744—745
Views of Ambassador Gauss, 753—754
U.S. representations to Soviet Government regarding Pravda article criticizing policy of declaring Manila an open city, 767—768
Welles, Sumner, conversation with British Ambassador (July 10) regarding Far Eastern situation, 300—303
Wikawa, Tadao, mission to United States, 51—53, 63, 69—70, 71, 73, 74, 75, 81, 95, 96, 97, 113—117, 119, 127, 161
Willkie, Wendell, 197, 211, 745
Winds code telegrams of Japanese, interception of, 713
Yamada, Engineer Lieutenant Wataru, arrest in United States for espionage, and deportation, 295, 507
Young, James R., American correspondent arrested in Japan, 272