PREVIEW 1969-70 BASKETBALL SEASON
WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY CONFERENCE

Eau Claire, the surprise team of 1969, could be even more shocking in the 1970 Wisconsin State University Conference basketball race.

Blugold Coach Ken Anderson probably sounded a warning a few days after the 1968-69 season ended when he remarked, "We're looking forward already to next year."

Stevens Point, which shared the 1969 crown with Stout, also appears strong on paper. Platteville, too, figures to find a spot among the contenders.

Eau Claire (11-5) shared third with Platteville and the Blugolds jolted the more highly regarded quintets with a predominantly freshman squad.

Four top Eau Claire returnees are sophomores, including guard Jim Lindsey, who led the Blugolds in scoring with a conference average of 14.2 points per game.

Steve Johnson and Mike Ratliff each averaged 11.6 and Tom Jackson 10.1. Ratliff also averaged 11.5 rebounds a game and Johnson 10.3 retrieves.

Included among Anderson's veterans are senior Larry Sturz and junior Jerry Hughes, both of whom averaged 10 points a game.

Stevens Point will miss 6-9 rebounding star Mike Hughes, but Coach Bob Krueger still has juniors Tom Ritzenthaler and Quinn Vanden Heuvel, 16.5 and 13.8, respectively, as well as senior sharpshooter Ken Ritzenthaler (10.6), who compiled the best field goal shooting average in the conference the past two years.

Senior Dan Tinnon (10.9) as well as juniors Jim Lawinger (13.7) and Rich Ludka (13.3) head Platteville returnees. A replacement must be found for all-conference Doug Knutson (15.1) who is now in the service.

La Crosse boasts a promising group of veterans, including sophomore Len Sullivan, who came on strong for the Indians in the latter half of the 1968-69 season. He wound up averaging 14.9 points and 10.6 rebounds per game.

Also back for the Indians are seniors Mike Heideman (15.0), LeRoy Young (10.4), and Dave Aller (9.4), along with junior John Selbo.

Superior will build around sophomore Win McGriff, a 16.1 scorer and 11.8 rebounder, and Hank Solomon, who scored 11.1 points a game and grabbed 10 rebounds. Also back are juniors Bob Boettcher and Jim Brandt.

Junior Jeff Stang, the sixth ranking conference scorer with 16.4 last season, is the chief hope as Oshkosh hopes to recapture its championship groove of a couple years ago. He will be abetted by senior Rick Rehm, the team's leading rebounder, and junior Ken VerGowe.

Two of Stout's big three are missing as Coach Dwain Mintz searches for another winning combination. All-everything Mel Coleman, who scored more points (338) and accounted for more rebounds (242) than anyone else in the conference, is gone along with Bill Heidemann, ninth ranked scorer in 1969 and co-scoring champ in '68.

Junior Cal Glover, fourth ranked conference scorer (18.3) is the lone returnee from the Bluedevil triumvirate. Also back is senior guard Greg Ebsen.

Whitewater is confident of escaping the conference cellar by building around seniors Jerry Stelse and Don Paulsen, and River Falls must start almost from scratch except for sophomore Bob Parker and junior Joe Acotto.

Returning all-conference performers include Glover, Lindsey, Paulsen, Tom Ritzenthaler, and Vanden Heuvel.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

The Bugolds were the surprise of the conference last season when they fashioned a third place finish with a predominantly freshman team. They should become even better during the coming campaign in Ken Anderson's second season as head coach.

Sophomore Jim Lindsey, an all-conference guard as a freshman, along with strong rebounders Steve Johnson and Mike Ratliff form the nucleus. Only four-year letterman Roy Campbell will be missing from the 1968-69 club.

Bolstering the youthful veterans will be transfers Frank Schade from the University of Texas at El Paso and John Sleizer from the University of Minnesota.

The Bugolds possess size, strength, quickness, and depth but need more scoring, especially from inside men. "I definitely feel that we should have a shot at the championship," Anderson commented. "I would be disappointed if we are not a major contender."

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

The Indians will be aiming at the first division after finishing a disappointing sixth last season, Phil Hey's second as head coach. He will have nine lettermen back for his third year, including four who saw considerable action.

Missing will be Joel Hafner, who has graduated, and Len Sullivan, the team's leading rebounder who was a victim of scholastic ineligibility. Hafner and Sullivan also shared the team scoring lead in conference competition.

Mike Heideman, a high scoring 6-2 forward, should be a major asset to Hey after the Appleton senior played only half the season in 1968-69.

Offensively, the Indians will fast-break and run patterns. Hey lists defense as the area which needs most improvement. The normal progress from the maturity of 6-4 Dale Ailer, 6-1 John Selbo, and 5-9 LeRoy Young will be helpful.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Oshkosh hit the skids last season, finishing in a tie for seventh place after winning two straight championships. Coach Bob White hopes to brake that slide with normal improvement of his veterans, a transfer, and some service returnees.

Jeff Stang, a 6-1 guard, played only the second semester but averaged 16.4 points for eight games. Veterans Ken VerGowe at 6-6 and Rick Rehm at 6-5 should provide some rebounding strength, which White lists as a weak spot.

Help should come from 6-2 Pat Fitzgerald, former Appleton Xavier star who transferred from Florida State; 6-4 Jack Washington, a Schenectady, N.Y., high school all-American who returned from service in January; and 6-5 Oshkosh freshman Greg Seibold, a Vietnam veteran.

White's blueprint for boosting the Titans this season includes finding some team speed, improving rebounding, and bolstering the scoring, which lagged with only 37 percent shooting in 1968-69.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Like most basketball coaches, Dick Wadewitz of the Pioneers is looking for a big man who can score. This is understandable, though, with big, strong Doug Knutson now in the Army.

Knutson, two-time all-conference, was Platteville's leading scorer and most valuable player last season. Wadewitz also must replace Mike Leone, a dependable guard from last season's squad which shared second place with Eau Claire.

Eight lettermen are expected back, the biggest being 6-6 Dennis Nodolf. Wadewitz might have to look for a newcomer who can provide the muscle and scoring punch under the board which Knutson exhibited. The Pioneers do have quickness.

Leading among the returnees are Jim Lawinger and Rich Ludka, who averaged 13.7 and 13.3 points in conference competition last season. Also back is Dan Tinnon, who compiled a 10.9 average.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Coach Newman Benson has the "help wanted" sign out at River Falls, where he must replace Steve Gustafson, Bill Van Dyke, and George Voss in his starting lineup. Gustafson earned all-conference honors and ranked third in scoring with a 19.8 average.

The coach also is in dire need of some rebounding strength. "A team in our conference has to have a big man or they won't survive," Benson reasoned. "We hope to get one."

Leading returnees are the three lettermen Dennis Burich, Bob Parker, and Joe Acotto. The latter averaged 10.8 points last season. The Falcons expect to have a good shooting team again.

"We are going to have to depend a great deal on incoming freshmen," Benson said. Among them are Bruce Wisse, Todd Prink, and Mike Krisik. "If we get a couple good freshmen, we could be respectable the second half of the season," he added.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Veteran Coach Bob Krueger welcomes nine lettermen back, including three starters from last season. But, he must find replacements for Mike Hughes, Palmer Clements, and Russ DeFauw. Hughes, a 6-8 all-conference performer, was the league's second best rebounder in 1968-69 with a 14.5 average.

The Pointers shared the championship with Stout, but lost a berth in the NAIA tournament by two points in a playoff with the Bluedevils. Back from that fine Pointer team are two other all-conference stars, Tom Ritzenthaler and Quinn VandenHeuvel.

Tom Ritzenthaler averaged 16.5 points a game last season and VandenHeuvel 13.8. Also back is Tom's brother, Ken Ritzenthaler, who fashioned the best shooting average of the season, hitting 53 percent of his field goal attempts.

Krueger could weave some newcomers into his lineup this year, so he isn't quite sure yet about his offensive plans. He will have good shooters and experience, but needs more depth and speed among the Pointers.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Coach Dwain Mintz enjoyed a banner season in 1968-69, sharing the conference championship, winning a playoff against Stevens Point, downing Lakeland in the District 14 showdown, and then splitting in the NAIA tournament at Kansas City.

This is a tough act to follow, especially with Mel Coleman, Bill Heidemann, and Tim Domke no longer around. Coleman was Mr. Everything in the conference, including most valuable player and NAIA All-American.

Despite the losses, Mintz isn't Destitute, however. Among the five returning lettermen are Cal Glover, a 6-foot forward who ranked fourth in conference scoring last season with an 18.3 average, and Greg Ebsen with an 11.1 average.

Lack of experience will hurt at the start, but Mintz said, "The team probably will be a slow starter, but should finish strong the second half of the season barring misfortune." He has some likely looking freshmen, including 6-8 Dale Magedanz of Neenah.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

Coach Dom Moselle sees no reason why the Yellowjackets can't improve on last season's record, which was 4-12 in the conference for a share of seventh. He expects a better than average offensive punch.

Four starters from last season are among the six returning lettermen, including Windy McGriff, a 6-4 sophomore who averaged 16.1 scoring and 11.8 rebounding as a freshman.

One of Moselle's biggest jobs early will be finding a replacement for graduated Don Hartlund, an all-conference performer who compiled the best scoring average in the league last season with a 21.7 mark.

Guard Bob Boettcher and forwards Jim Brandt and Hank Soloman with McGriff are returning starters, but the quartet doesn't possess exceptional height. Moselle is looking for some rebounding strength and a better defense.

PROSPECTS FOR 1969-70

The Warhawks finished dead last in the conference last season and Coach Fritz Plinke and his five returning lettermen, especially, aim to atone for that 2-14 record.

"We must find some outside shooting along with better defense and rebounding in order to be an improved ball club," Plinke assessed. It figures he will start from scratch with no special priorities.

Lettermen gone are Bob Buchholtz and Jerry Griffin, but Plinke can build around all-conference Don Paulsen, who ranked eighth in scoring last season with a 15.9 average. Also back are Terry Hayes, Paul Palesse, Jerry Stelse, and Bob Schlitz.

Plinke looks for better scoring balance this season and expects help from Jay Langhurst, Tom Kursel, Dave Cox, and Dennis Zielski. The latter stands 6-7.
