MY DEAR MISS JENNER:

I am writing you to-day some especially to reply to Miss Grinnell’s letter which came yesterday. The poor child will not be able to take an auto trip or any kind of a trip from here, from Chicago.

Her nerve exhaustion is quite severe and although she is better than when she came she is still utterly unable to do much of any thing.
We kept her in bed till noon and after lunch she came to the office where she stayed till we go to dinner. She goes to bed very soon after dinner.

We do not let people see her and do not let her head or write much but in spite of this quiet she has several hours of excruciating daily. Her mental condition is much better. We do not talk sufficient matter with her anymore than we can help.

The girl has been doing her candle unduly in so long a time that nature must soon be paid in full for the indirections. She is a dear sweet person and it makes my heart ache to see her in such shape.

Dr. [Inert and I should like to much to talk for matters with you concerning the election & what is to be done in the future.

We feel very strongly that the Separate Ballot was a great disadvantage to our side.

Perhaps I ought not to say so, but I wish [Inert. Benedict had made the Statement she did in the Milwaukee Jews regarding the retail to wholesale liquor people. None of us can see the difference between the two associations. I know there could have been no agreement between us and any association and yet that was the implication.

I wish we could have given a larger majority in Lafayette County but we were glad to pull through. The total vote lacked only a few hundred of the total vote cast in the county which shows that general interest
Dr. Jean Mottram Cooke
Darlington, Wis.

War

in theReferendum, but I am sure if the measure had been on the general ballot they would have been fewer against and just as many for. General has just come in to tell me our vote was 150 less than the vote for Governor.

Do you happen to know whether the measure in the other campaign failed

was in separate ballots or not?
Michigan is my home State and I feel proud to come out ahead. We have had so little news here as to know the vote by county in the State went, but I suppose it will be published in some paper before long. One of our precincts ran out of pink ballots and quite a number would have voted for the bill were given no opportunity. I feel certain that the vote was very carefully handled and counted. What do you think?
I hope it will be possible to amalgamate the two state associations and I am quite willing to eliminate Drs. Brown but I am not willing to do this service to you. I will let you know later on how this moves in.

Very sincerely,

Jean M. Cooke