[READ CAREFULLY.]

VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS ON PAINTING.

BY GEO. F. STROUD.

OUTSIDE WORK — To do a first-class job on the outside of a building, use nothing but the best strictly pure white lead and boiled linseed oil, for the first two coats, then for finishing and last coat, use French zinc and boiled oil. Never use turpentine or benzine for outside work.

RULE FOR QUANTITY — 100 lbs. of strictly pure white lead will cover 1200 feet surface, two good coats, with 5 or 6 gallons of oil. 50 lbs. of zinc will cover as much as 100 lbs. of lead.

INSIDE WORK — For gloss finish use one-half French zinc, one-half lead, three-fourths turpentine, and one-fourth boiled oil. This leaves a flat white; varnish over with Damar varnish, and job is complete.

FLOOR PAINT — To paint a floor 16 feet square — Two good coats of the most durable and handsome paint, use the following: 4 lbs. French ochre, cost 20c; 2 lbs. white lead, 20c; 1 lb. red lead, 15c; 1 pint Japan, 20c; 2 qts. boiled oil, 45c. Total cost, $1.20.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS, WAGONS, ETC. — Use one-half Venetian red; one-half orange mineral, with boiled oil. One pound of each, with a quart of boiled oil, will do a good job on a double wagon. Varnish with a pint and a half of coach varnish.

TO PREPARE A WALL FOR PAINTING — Use one pound of glue, dissolved in from two to three gallons of water, and size the wall over; also use the same proportions in sizing wall paper, when you wish to paint or varnish over it. A wall sized with the above can be painted as well as if boarded.

TO RESTORE FURNITURE — Apply some of Stroud’s Oil Finish with a brush, and old furniture will become as new.

REMARKS — A little money judiciously invested in paint is never regretted. Nothing beautifies nor preserves from the weather more than paint. There are so many worthless brands of white lead sold to those who are not judges of its merits, that when you have an institution that you can rely upon for the quality of the goods sold, don’t go anywhere else. Remember, it costs no more to put on good paint than worthless stuff, and bear in mind the motto, “The best is the cheapest.”

Having established a business exclusively of Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, Brushes, Etc., I have endeavored, by fair dealing, to satisfy my customers. This was the first institution of the kind in Wisconsin; this line of goods having previously been handled by druggists. The great success of my endeavors to suit customers is a sufficient encouragement that the people appreciate fair dealing.

OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN.

Use Loper’s Upper Ten Soap for the Toilet, Bath and Laundry. It is the Great Unexcelled.

Among the manufactures of the city which have started into new life, with enlarged proportions, since the fire, are the new Soap Works of J. R. Loper. Mr. Loper has been burnt out three times, meeting with heavy losses, and has built up larger than ever, and furnishes another instance of Oshkosh enterprise and business vigor.

The new building is a fine fire-proof structure, with largely increased facilities for the manufacture of the superior article of soaps, which are rapidly winning their way into popular favor. He guarantees low prices, according to the times, and warrants goods just as represented.

PERSONAL.

Among the list of business firms of Neenah will be found that of Whitenack & Mitchell, gentlemen who have extended the greatest courtesy and the kindest attention to the publisher of this work, and for which he returns his thanks.

The members of this firm are both stirring business men who have secured a large trade, and enjoy a wide popularity, as the large number of customers who flock to their store well attests. They were among the first in Neenah to extend aid and encouragement in the publication of this work.

BECKWITH HOUSE.

S. BECKWITH, PROPRIETOR.

Main and Algoma Streets, OSHKOSH, WIS.

This house is located in the very business center of the city, as shown in the street view of Oshkosh, in this work. It has a frontage of 132 feet on Main Street, and of 110 feet on Algoma Street; is four stories high, and contains seventy-five rooms, which are high, airy and well ventilated. The house is constructed on the modern hotel principle, and every pains has been taken to provide for the agreeable entertainment of the most fastidious guests.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.

The largest among the elegant structures of Rebuilt Oshkosh is the Beckwith House, which was constructed immediately after the Great Fire of 1875. It is a magnificent building in its inside and outside construction, and a credit to the city, as it ranks with the first-class hotels of the larger cities.

The furniture is new throughout, and every convenience and comfort is provided for guests.

Mr. Beckwith's pleasant manners, and his kind attention to guests, the comforts of the house, its scrupulous neatness and well spread tables provided with all the delicacies of the seasons have already earned for it a wide-spread popularity.

Our splendid yachting facilities and delightful summer climate are attracting the attention of summer tourists, and the Beckwith furnishes a delightful stopping place for the sojourner.

The central location of the hotel makes it also one of the most convenient houses for the commercial traveler, and with this class it stands in the highest repute.

Mr. Beckwith is entitled to the greatest credit for his enterprise in providing this city with enlarged hotel facilities, a want much felt until supplied by the building of this elegant structure.
