b. Preservation of Foods. To insure a year around supply of foods, they must be preserved by canning, drying, storing, sulphuring, brining, etc. This will release commercially canned foods for shipment to our soldiers and Allies.

2. Attractive, suitable, and comfortable clothing

Wool and other fabrics are needed in the war, therefore those which are on hand should be remodeled and repaired where it is practical to do so.

3. Better Homes

Which are comfortable and attractive with electric lights and running water and which are privately owned. Repair and recover furniture which cannot be replaced to help keep up the appearance of the home.

4. Education for family.

5. Happy home life

Place to entertain friends and keep up family morale.

6. Religion and good morals for the family

7. Independence for old age.

With the above goals in mind, the Wood County Homemakers Council met on Achievement Day to plan a program of work. The following projects were selected:

I. CLOTHING

a. Make-overs

b. Dress Forms

The clothing project has been a favorite among Wood County Homemakers for many years. They are thoroughly in-interested in keeping up their appearance and the appearance of their family. At the time of the program planning meeting, high quality woolen materials had already disappeared from the market. The homemakers realized then that they would be using their old materials to the best advantage and would need help in making over.

The work on dress forms was requested by individuals from all parts of the county who do sewing for themselves. This is a repeat project as dress forms were made in the county about 15 years ago. Several women who made dress forms then wanted to make them again as they found them very useful. More women are doing home sewing now than in the past few years.

II. FOODS AND NUTRITION

a. Meal Planning In War Time

b. Salads

This project is always popular in Wood County. The women know that good health depends to a large extent on kinds of food eaten. Many food and nutrition projects have been carried on and studied in the past. Some of them helped to develop skills and methods while others helped furnish a background of information leading to good selection and preparation of food.

This year because of the war it is more important than ever that the civilian population be well fed. At the program planning meeting, although there was not much mention of the possibility of food rationing, the women realized that meal planning would be more complicated than it had been in pre-war days. For this reason, they selected the project "Meal Planning in War Time".

More and More is the suggestion given that fresh fruit and raw vegetables be included in our meals. In selecting
