Elections in Wisconsin: election statistics for 1974 spring and fall elections and for 1975 spring election

ELECTIONS IN WISCONSIN

A Capsule View

The laws governing all elections in Wisconsin are set forth in chapters 5 to 12 of the Wisconsin Statutes. Generally, there are 4 elections to engage the voter's attention — the spring primary in February and the spring election in April of each year, and the September primary and November general election in the even-numbered years. Officers who are elected on a nonpartisan basis are chosen in the spring. These comprise town, village, city and school district officers, county board members, county executives, all judges and the state superintendent of public instruction. Officers elected on a partisan basis are chosen in the fall and include county administrative officials, members of the legislature, state constitutional officers except the state superintendent, and members of congress. Not all of these officers are elected at every election.

In presidential election years the presidential preference vote is held at the spring election, while the vote for president occurs at the general (November) election. At some elections, the Wisconsin voters are also asked to advise the state legislature or local legislative bodies on matters of public policy (referenda) or to ratify or reject a proposed law or an amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution.

The Wisconsin Electorate

Size of the electorate. Because Wisconsin does not maintain a statewide register of voters, the exact size of the electorate is unknown. On April 1, 1970, Wisconsin population 21 and over numbered 2,593,018, but not all of these were qualified to vote in Wisconsin elections. Since 1,342,858 votes were cast for governor in that year, it can be assumed that about 52 percent of the eligible voters participated in the election. This low turn-out may be typical for an "off year" election; only 2 years earlier, when the election for governor coincided with a vote for U.S. president, 1,689,601 votes were cast for governor in the November election.

Age requirements. Under article III of the Wisconsin constitution, "every person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards" may vote in Wisconsin if he or she fulfills certain other requirements. The legislature may extend the suffrage by law, but the law would not become effective until approved by a vote on it at the general election. The 21-year voting provision, however, became obsolete with the adoption of the 26th amendment to the U.S. constitution.

The 26th amendment ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states in 1971 (including Wisconsin), extended the right to vote to those 18 years and over. Thus, regardless of the wording of the Wisconsin constitution, the voting age in this state is now 18 for all elections. The 1970 census gives the Wisconsin population age 18, 19 and 20 as 241,070, thus increasing the number of voting age to 2,834,088. Since 1,851,997 votes were cast for president in 1972, it can be assumed that about 65 percent of the eligible voters participated in the election.

Residence requirements. One of the voting requirements is residence. In Wisconsin state and local elections, the privilege of voting is granted to citizens of the United States who have resided in the state for 6 months or more and who have been residents of the district in which they expect to vote for at least 10 days. A person's residence is defined as "the place where his habitation is fixed, without any present intent to move, and to which, when absent, he intends to return."

Beginning with 1956, new residents have been permitted to vote for president and vice president, if eligible to vote at their former residence, regardless of how short a time they have been Wisconsin residents. Beginning with the 1964 presidential election, ex-residents of Wisconsin who moved within 24 months preceding the election to another state have been permitted to vote for presidential electors in Wisconsin unless they had meanwhile become eligible to vote in another state.

History of the suffrage. When Wisconsin became a state in 1848, suffrage was restricted to white (and emancipated Indian) male residents including immigrants not yet naturalized. A referendum approved in November of 1849 extended suffrage to colored male residents. In 1908, the Wisconsin constitution was amended to restrict the right to vote to citizens of the United States. Woman suffrage came with the 19th amendment to the U.S. constitution (ratified by Wisconsin on June 10, 1919).

Voter registration. Based on a constitutional amendment ratified in 1882, the Wisconsin legislature "may provide for the registration of electors." Today, permanent voter registration in Wisconsin is by law required for every town, village or city with a population of 5,000 or more and may by local ordinance be adopted for incorporated municipalities of less than 5,000 population. Municipal voter registration in Wisconsin does not record the party affiliation of the voter.

Selection of Candidates

Primaries. Election to public office requires 3 distinct steps: the selection of possible candidates, the nomination of candidates in a primary, and the election of officeholders in the general election.

Until "Fighting Bob" La Follette became governor of our state, candidates for public office were selected at caucuses or conventions composed of delegates, of members of a political party, or of eligible voters. Contrary to popular belief, the Wisconsin nominating caucuses did not imply political deals hatched in smoke-filled rooms — the caucuses were subject to legal regulations equally as stringent as our modern election laws.

In most instances, candidates are chosen today in primary elections; the nominating caucus remains as an optional method for the selection of town and village office candidates. In all other cases, aspirants to elective office circulate nomination papers to be signed by a specified number of voters in the constituency.

Primary elections are held in Wisconsin to determine the candidates for both the partisan "general elections" held in November and for the nonpartisan "spring elections" held in April. The spring primary is held on the third Tuesday in February; the fall primary, the second Tuesday in September.

Partisan September primary. Primaries are held, regardless of the number of aspirants, to select the candidates of each political party for each partisan election. Since the purpose of a partisan primary is to nominate the candidates that a political party will run against the nominees of the other party in the general election, only the adherents of a particular party should vote in that party's primary. Wisconsin's "open primary" law makes the choice a private matter; that is, the voter does not have to make a public declaration of his party affiliation to receive the ballot of that party (a closed primary). Instead, he is given the ballots of all parties, but votes his choices on one party's ballot only. He cannot select candidates at random from several ballots.

In partisan primaries, the nominee receiving the highest number of votes becomes his party's candidate for the office, but a write-in candidate qualifies only if the vote for him also equals at least 5 percent of the party vote for governor cast in the district at the last general election.

Nonpartisan February primary. Nonpartisan primaries are required only under certain conditions. If 3 or more candidates run for state superintendent or any judicial office, a primary election must be held and the names of the 2 candidates receiving the greatest number of votes are placed on the ballots for the nonpartisan election. This is also applicable to municipalities adopting the system of nominating candidates by primary election. In nonpartisan primaries, the 2 aspirants receiving the highest number of votes for a specific office are selected as the candidates for that office in the nonpartisan final election.

Presidential preference vote. On the first Tuesday in April of each presidential election year, Wisconsin voters are given an opportunity to express their preference for the person to be the presidential candidate of their party.

Meeting on the first Tuesday in February of that year, an 11-member, bipartisan committee certifies to the elections board the names of all nationally advocated or recognized candidates to be placed on the ballot. Ten members of the committee consist of the state chairman and the national committeeman and committeewoman from each party, the speaker of the assembly, the president pro tempore of the senate and the minority leader of each house of the legislature. The 11th member is elected by the committee and serves as chairman. Any potential candidate may withdraw his name from the ballot by filing a disclaimer with the elections board, no later than the last day in February, that "he is not and does not intend to become a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the forthcoming presidential election." Other candidates may be placed on the ballot by filing nomination petitions with the elections board, signed by a specified percentage of qualified electors, by the first Tuesday in March. In addition, the ballot of each major party provides space for a write-in vote.

Candidates who get on the ballot have until the 2nd Tuesday in March to file their list of district and at-large delegates. Not less than two-thirds of the convention votes must be allocated on an equal basis to congressional districts. The total number of delegates and convention votes allocated to each state is not determined by state law, but by the national committee of each party and is based on the number of congressional districts and the prior voting record of the state. If the vote of any district or in the state at large is won by a candidate who did not file a slate of delegates, or by a write-in candidate, the state party organization selects the allocated number of delegates and alternates. The winning candidate, however, has until June 5 to review this slate of delegates and replace any of the recommended list with his own choices. Delegates must pledge to vote in accordance with the results of the presidential preference vote on the first and subsequent ballots until the candidate either fails to obtain at least one-third of the authorized convention vote or until such candidate releases the delegates. Thereafter, the Wisconsin delegates may support any other candidates of their choice.

The Wisconsin presidential preference primary is also an open primary. In order to reduce the temptation of crossover voting, each ballot provides for a protest "no" vote against the candidate or slate of candidates listed on that ballot. If a plurality of the voters in any district or the state at large cast their ballots for "none of the names shown", or against the single name shown on the ballot, the voluntary party organization selects the delegates to attend the national convention as an uninstructed delegation.

Elections

The partisan "general" November elections. From among the candidates chosen at the partisan primaries, the people of Wisconsin select, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each even-numbered year, the elected officials of the state and its counties. The choice is between the single candidates for each political party who received the highest number of votes for a particular office in the partisan primaries; possibly there might also be a few "independent" candidates. "Write-in" votes can be cast for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot.

In each presidential election year, each political party's nominees for state and legislative offices and the holdover state senators hold a convention in the state capitol on the first Tuesday in October to nominate their party's slate of presidential electors for president and vice president. Though the names of the electors no longer appear on the presidential ballots, every vote cast for the names of the candidates for president and vice president of each party is a vote for each of the electors committed to that slate. The electors of the presidential slate receiving the greatest number of votes become members of the "electoral college" and meet after the election to officially cast the vote for president and vice president in Wisconsin. Wisconsin had 12 electoral votes in 1968; because of the reduction of its congressional districts from 10 to 9, the number of its electoral college votes in 1972 was 11.

The constitutional offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general are filled from the state at large. The constitutional officers are elected for 4-year terms in the general elections two years after each U.S. presidential election. At every general election, a representative in Congress is elected from each of the congressional districts and a representative to the assembly from each of the assembly districts. United States senators, who serve 6 years, are also chosen at the general election. The 33 state senators are elected for 4 years — one-half at each general election from the odd-numbered or even-numbered senate districts. A clerk, treasurer, sheriff, clerk of circuit court, district attorney, and register of deeds are elected biennially from each of the 72 counties in the state, and all counties except Burnett and Milwaukee also elect a coroner and a surveyor. (It should be noted, however, that a constitutional amendment adopted in 1972 gives counties the option of retaining an elected coroner or appointing a medical examiner.)

The only other partisan officers chosen are party precinct committeemen, who are elected at September primaries in even-numbered years. Precinct committeemen cannot be elected by write-in vote. Party precinct committeemen serve on party committees to fill vacancies in nominations and may also recommend names of electors to be appointed election officials by the governing body of each town, village, and city.

Vacancies in the offices of representatives in congress, state senators, and representatives to the assembly may be filled by special election only. Vacancies in the office of U.S. senator may be filled by appointment until they can be filled at a general election. Vacancies in state constitutional offices and county offices are filled by appointment except that the lieutenant governor constitutionally succeeds the governor in case of a vacancy in the office of governor (the secretary of state is third in line of succession). Appointments to fill vacancies on the state level and for most county offices are made by the governor.

Nonpartisan April elections. Nonpartisan elections are held on the first Tuesday of April for state superintendent of public instruction, judicial officers, county executive officers, town, village and city officers, and county supervisors. The terms of office vary, so only certain offices are voted on each year. The only nonpartisan offices voted for on a statewide basis are state superintendent and justice of the supreme court; all others are elected from the county, district, or municipality represented. In addition to the supreme court, consisting of 7 justices, there are 26 judicial circuits, some of which elect more than one circuit judge. Except for Florence and Forest counties and Menominee and Shawano counties, which elect combined county judges, one or more county judges are elected from each of the other 68 counties.

The governor has power to fill by temporary appointment vacancies which might occur in nonpartisan state elective offices. Many of the state's judges first achieved judicial office through appointment by the governor; thus, gubernatorial appointments to a considerable extent determine the composition of the Wisconsin judiciary.

Constitutional Amendments; Referenda; Recall

Referenda. The voters of Wisconsin have the right of initiative and referendum only on the local level. However, on the state level the Wisconsin legislature may submit matters to a statewide advisory referendum. Occasionally, the legislature has passed laws which become effective only if approved by the voters; the most recent example of this was a 1965 law to reduce the voting residence requirement from 1 year to 6 months.

The most recent statewide referenda submitted to the voters were those asking if they favored the issuance of bonds by the state for an accelerated water pollution abatement program and for an expansion of the state's land acquisition program. They were approved in April 1969. Another referendum at the same election, however, inquiring whether the state should control and fund vocational education, was turned down.

Local municipalities also have the right to submit referenda questions by petition, relating to village and city charter ordinances and other subjects affecting the government of the municipalities.

In addition, all proposed amendments to the constitution must be ratified by the people before they can become effective. Thus, the voters of Wisconsin may be asked at an election to approve a change in the state constitution or express their preference on a matter of public policy. With one exception, all questions have been submitted by the legislature to the electorate at "spring elections" in April or "general elections" in November. Before it was illegal to do so, a referendum, relating to a World War I soldiers' bonus, was submitted at the 1919 September primary and was approved by the electors.

Constitutional amendments. The procedure for amending the state constitution is adoption of an identical amendment by 2 consecutive legislatures and ratification of the amendment by a majority vote of the people at a subsequent election.

In recent years the voters have approved quite a number of constitutional amendments. For example, four constitutional amendments were submitted to voters in the April 1968 election and were all ratified. Three more amendments were ratified in April 1969 and 4 in 1972 while in 1973, one was adopted and one relating to equality of the sexes was rejected. In 1974, 3 were ratified which offered taxation of agricultural land at a different rate from other land, allowed increased benefits for retired public employes, and provided for the removal of county and municipal judges by address.

If a proposed constitutional amendment raises several different questions, the voters must be given opportunity to vote on each proposition separately. For instance, the proposal to provide 4-year terms for constitutional officers was submitted in April 1967 as 4 separate questions, all of which were adopted.

Recall. The Wisconsin constitution also provides for the recall of elective officers after the first year of a term through a process of petition and special election.

The Mechanics of the Election Process

Certifying candidates, registering voters, and recording, tallying and reporting the votes of a million and a half people is a complex process. Who handles it? First of all, the process is guided by explicit state laws. Detailed specifications concerning the content of the ballot, for example, are set forth in the statutes. The Wisconsin elections board, which administers the election laws for the state, prepares all official ballot forms and other election forms, promulgates rules for the use of voting machines, certifies to each county clerk the list of candidates, and performs other duties pertaining to elections.

For the potential voter, the election process begins when he registers to vote with the clerk of his municipality or — in Milwaukee — with the city board of election commissioners. Registration is optional for municipalities under 5,000 population. A voter's registration is permanent unless he moves or fails to vote for a 2-year period; then he must reregister.

County clerks are responsible for preparing the ballots to be used for the election of all offices on the county level or above, and for distribution of them to the municipal clerks; municipal clerks supervise registration and elections in their municipalities; in cities or counties over 500,000 population, election duties are performed by a city board of election commissioners and a county board of election commissioners.

On election day at each polling place, there are stationed 3 inspectors, 2 elections clerks, and — unless voting machines are used — 2 ballot clerks. The law requires all cities and villages over 10,000 to use voting machines. Each political party may also appoint 2 observers and alternates for each precinct. A voter who cannot come to the polling place on election day, either because of absence from the city or disability, may vote by absentee ballot.

When the polls close, the inspectors canvass the votes and deliver one tally sheet statement and registry list each to the county clerk and to the municipal clerk. The county clerk and 2 citizens appointed by him (including one from another political party) constitute the county board of canvassers, which examines the returns. One statement of the results is filed in the county clerk's office; another statement, to which is attached a tabulation of votes cast at each polling place for each candidate, goes to the state elections board. The county clerk also issues certificates of election to the elected officials within the county.

The board of state canvassers, consisting of the chairman of the elections board, state treasurer, and attorney general, meet after each election to examine the certified statements of the county canvassers. The board makes a statement of the votes cast for each office and determines who has been elected. The elections board then issues certificates of election to officials elected statewide or from multicounty districts.

Campaign Financing

The regulation of campaign financing in Wisconsin was substantially revised by chapter 334, laws 1973, with the intent of furnishing the voters with complete information as to who is supporting or opposing which candidate or cause and to what extent, either directly or indirectly. Chapter 11 of the Wisconsin Statutes regulates campaign financing, while chapter 12 defines prohibited election practices.

Contributions and disbursements. Every political party committee, other political committee, political group and individual who makes or accepts contributions or makes disbursements in an amount exceeding $25 per year files a verified statement with the appropriate filing officer (the elections board in the case of state or national officers or a statewide referendum). The statement includes such items as the name and address of the committee or individual, the officers, the campaign depository, and of the candidates supported or opposed; the purpose of the committee; source of the registrant's income; and purposes for which disbursements are expected to be made.

Subsequently, such committees, groups or individuals must file full reports of all contributions received, obligations incurred and disbursements made, including the name, address and total contribution of each contributor donating over $10; an itemization of disbursements over $10 to other registrants; and a separate statement giving the name, address, employment, place of employment and contribution of any contributor donating more than $100 in any calendar year. Nonresident committees, groups or individuals making contributions or disbursements in this state must also file their names and addresses and that of a designated agent in the state with the secretary of state.

Single campaign treasurer. Each candidate must appoint one campaign treasurer and designate one campaign depository before receiving any contributions or making any disbursements. Such treasurer must file a verified statement on behalf of his candidate and file reports, for which the candidate is responsible as to correctness.

Contribution by negotiable instrument. All campaign contributions exceeding $50 must be made by check or other negotiable instrument, so that the origin is known and, similarly, all campaign disbursements exceeding $25 must be made by negotiable instrument. Anonymous contributions exceeding $10 cannot be expended but must be donated either to a charity or to the common school fund. All contributions must be made in the name of the contributor.

Duties of the elections board. The elections board furnishes candidates and committees with forms for making reports, furnishes manuals setting forth recommended methods of bookkeeping and reporting, compiles and maintains a current list of all reports and statements pertaining to such candidate, individual, committee or group, and prepares special reports. It may include in its annual report total contributions and expenditures of candidates and committees, amounts over $100 contributed by contributors, and additional data. It shall notify the district attorney or the governor of any discrepancies in reports or statements that might be grounds for civil action or criminal prosecution.

Similar requirements are made with regard to financial reporting in local elections.

Limitations on contributions. Limitations are imposed upon the amount that may be received by candidates. No one individual may contribute more than the specified amounts to any of the following candidates and any individual or voluntary committee supporting him (a candidate, however, may contribute to his own campaign up to 150% of these specified amounts): U.S. senator, constitutional administrative officers (governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction), and supreme court justice — $10,000; U.S. congressman — $5,000; state senator — $1,000; representative to the assembly — $500; and all other state and local candidates — 5% of the value of the candidate's authorized disbursement limitation. Furthermore, no individual may make a contribution for all candidates in excess of $10,000 in any calendar year.

No committee other than a political party committee may make any contributions to a candidate for U.S. senator, constitutional administrative officers, justice of the supreme court, and any individual or voluntary committee of more than 4% of the candidate's authorized disbursement limitation; to candidates for other national, state and local offices of 5%. Nor shall such a committee make any contributions to all such candidates and individuals or voluntary committees supporting or opposing them in excess of $50,000 in any biennium. No committee other than a political party committee may make any contributions to all candidates for national, state or local office other than the above in excess of $30,000 in any biennium.

No political party may receive more than $25,000 of its contributions in any calendar year from all other committees, nor more than $3,000 from any specific committee or its subunits. No committee other than a political party committee may make any contribution to a political party exceeding $3,000.

No candidate may receive more than 65% of his total authorized disbursement limitation from all other committees, including political party committees.

Disbursements cannot be made anonymously, nor can contributions or disbursements be made in a fictitious name. The source of all political advertisements shall appear thereon.

Limitations on campaign expenditures. No candidate for national, state or local office may make or authorize total disbursements in any campaign in excess of:

PRIMARY	ELECTION	OFFICE
$150,000	$350,000	U.S. senator
35,000	50,000	U.S. congressman
150,000	350,000	Governor
50,000	50,000	Lieutenant governor
50,000	100,000	Attorney general
25,000	50,000	Secretary of state, state treasurer, supreme court justice, superintendent of public instruction
$16,000 total (not exceeding $10,000 in either)		State senator
$8,000 total (not exceeding $5,000 in either)		Representative to the Assembly

Specific amounts are also set for county, city and other local offices. Civil and criminal penalties are provided for various violations of the law.

Prohibited Election Practices

Chapter 12 of the statutes lists prohibited election practices, such as practices involving bribery, fraud, election threats, and illegal actions of election officials.

RETIREMENT BENEFITSAmending Art. IV, Sec. 26*1971 SJR 3; 1973 SJR 15; Adopted April 2, 1974

Ballot Question: "Shall section 26 of Article IV of the constitution be amended to permit the legislature to increase the pensions of persons who already have retired under any public retirement system (such retirement benefits already may be granted to teachers), and to require the state to provide sufficient state funds to cover the costs of the increased benefits to all persons retired under a public retirement fund?"

Text of Section: "(Article IV) Section 26. The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, sergeant or contractor, grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office except that when any increase or decrease provided by the legislature in the compensation of the justices of the supreme court, or judges of the circuit court shall become effective as to any such justice or judge, it shall be effective from such date as to each of such justices or judges. This section shall not apply to increased benefits for teachers persons who have been or shall be granted benefits of any kind under a teachers' retirement system when such increased benefits are provided by a legislative act passed on a call of yeas and nays by a three-fourths vote of all the members elected to both houses of the legislature, which act shall provide for sufficient state funds to cover the costs of the increased benefits."

TAXATION OF AGRICULTURAL LANDS*

Amending Art. VIII, Sec. 1

1971 AJR 1; 1973 AJR 1; Adopted April 2, 1974

Ballot Question: "Shall section 1 of article VIII of the Wisconsin constitution be amended to permit the legislature to define agricultural land and undeveloped land and to allow that the taxation of such classes of land need not be uniform with one another nor with the taxation of other real property?".

Text of Section: "(Article VIII) Section 1. The rule of taxation shall be uniform but the legislature may empower cities, villages or towns to collect and return taxes on real estate located therein by optional methods. Taxes shall be levied upon such property with such classifications as to forests and minerals including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxation of agricultural land and undeveloped land, both as defined by law, need not be uniform with the taxation of each other nor with the taxation of other real property. Taxation of merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products, and livestock need not be uniform with the taxation of real property and other personal property, but the taxation of all such merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products and livestock shall be uniform, except that the legislature may provide that the value thereof shall be determined on an average basis. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exceptions may be provided."

EXCLUSIONS FROM MUNICIPAL DEBT LIMITS*

Amending Art. XI, Sec. 3
1971 SJR 44; 1973 SJR 55; Rejected April 1, 1975

Ballot Question: "Shall section 3 of article XI of the constitution be amended to exclude from the debt limit of a town, village, city, county, or special district debt secured solely by the property or income of a public project which produces regular income from normal operations where no general obligation is created, and to extend to counties the present nondebt incurring exclusion afforded to towns, villages, cities, or special districts for municipally-owned public utility mortgage or revenue financing?"

Change in Section: For the full text of section 3 of article XI of the constitution see page 227. That part of the text of the section affected by the substantive changes in the proposed amendment reads as follows:

"(Article XI) Section 3 . . . An indebtedness created by a town, village, city, county or special district for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, equipping, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village, city or special district, or public project, the latter of which produces regular income from its normal operations, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility or public project, and whereby no municipal liability general obligation is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village, city, or special district, and shall not be included in arriving at such debt limitation within the meaning of the limitations on indebtedness herein imposed, except that this exception shall not apply to a county-owned gas or electric power utility or project."
