The women of Waunakee have a long tradition of sharing recipes. The first recipe book was distributed in 1910 by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church. A second, expanded edition appeared in 1950. The ladies of St. John’s Catholic Church published a Community Cookbook in 1932, and St. Jude Circle of the same parish contributed a delightful book in 1963.

People Pleasing Recipes, a community cookbook for Waunakee’s Centennial in 1971. With a thousand recipes, it sold like hotcakes. People Pleasing Recipes in Ladies Circle Magazine, and over the years it was mailed to every state in the union. Profits from sales of the 15,000 copies helped purchase the land for Centennial Park.

Waunakee’s proclivity for sharing good recipes has not abated. In 1988, the Waunakee Band Boosters Club compiled a fund raising cookbook called Cooking Compositions, to the tune of 530 pages, contributed by local music lovers.

And as our Quasquicentennial in 1996 approached, cooks began reporting that their copies of People Pleasing Recipes were falling apart. In light of Waunakee’s rapid growth over the past quarter century — from a population of 2100 to 7200 in 2004 — it seemed high time to update this classic. This new edition proudly represents the original 800 recipes, along with 400 new recipes contributed by community members who have been born and moved to Waunakee since 1971.

The 1971 edition of People Pleasing Recipes was prepared by dedicated volunteers on manual typewriters in the Business Education Department at Waunakee High School. Barb Fehling laid out the pages by hand, with a ruler. Collette Koltes created the design, highlighted each category. Betty Reed designed the cover.

Technology has made publishing this new edition cost-effective and professional. Special thanks go to Bridget (Ripp) Ziegler of R.B. Printers, La Donna Radel of Advanced Office Support, and Julee Helt for text input and editing, Lori Saffian and the staff of Michele/Thomas/Hutchins Design for design and production, Kristi (Endres) Ziegler of Webcrafters for printer knowledge, Tammy (Ziegler) Reefe for proofreading, and all the community women who sorted and proofed recipes. Thanks also to Webcrafters for their printing knowledge and donation of materials.

Proceeds from the sale of this enhanced new edition will be used for the Quasquicentennial celebration and for the depot restoration. Thanks to all who have contributed recipes and assisted in the publication of this book.

Virginia Adler
Quasquicentennial Chairman
The women of Waunakee have a long tradition of sharing recipes. The first recipe book was distributed by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church in 1897. An expanded edition appeared in 1950. The last edition of the Catholic Church published a Community Cookbook in 1955, and St. Jude Circle of the same parish contributed a cookbook in 1963.

People Pleasing Recipes, a community cookbook for Waunakee’s Centennial in 1971. With 600 recipes, it sold like hotcakes. People Pleasing Recipes was featured in Ladies Circle Magazine, and over the years, copies have been mailed to every state in the union. Profits from the sale of the 15,000 copies helped purchase the land for Centennial Park.

Waunakee’s proclivity for sharing good recipes has not abated. In 1988, the Waunakee Band Booster Club compiled a fund raising cookbook called Cooking Compositions, to the tune of 550 recipes contributed by local music lovers.

And as our Quasquicentennial in 1996 approached, cooks began reporting that their copies of People Pleasing Recipes were falling apart. In light of Waunakee’s rapid growth over the past quarter-century — from a population of 2100 to 7200 — it seemed high time to update this classic.

This new edition proudly represents the original 800 recipes, along with 400 new recipes contributed by community members who have been born in or moved to Waunakee since 1971.

The 1971 edition of People Pleasing Recipes was prepared by dedicated volunteers on manual typewriters in the Business Education Department of Waunakee High School. Barb Fehling laid out the pages by hand, with a ruler. Collette Koltes created the artwork that highlighted each category. Betty Reed designed the original cover.

Technology has made publishing this new edition more efficient and professional. Special thanks go to Bridget (Ripp) Ziegler of R.B. Printers, La Donna Radel of Advanced Office Support, and Julee Helt for text input and editing, Lori Saffian and the staff of Michele/Thomas/Hutchins Design for design and production, Kristi (Endres) Ziegler of Webcrafters for printer knowledge, Tammy (Ziegler) Reece for proofreading, and all the community women who sorted and proofed recipes. Thanks also to Webcrafters for their printing knowledge and donation of materials.

Proceeds from the sale of this enhanced new edition will be used for the Quasquicentennial celebration and for the depot restoration. Thanks to all who have contributed recipes and assisted in the publication of this book.

Virginia Adler
Quasquicentennial Chairman