ELECTIONS IN WISCONSIN

A Capsule View

The laws governing all elections in Wisconsin are set forth in Chapters 5 to 12 of the Wisconsin Statutes. Generally, there are 4 elections to engage the voter's attention — the spring primary in February and the spring election in April of each year, and the September primary and November general election in the even-numbered years. Officers who are elected on a nonpartisan basis are chosen in the spring. These comprise town, village, city and school district officers, county board members, county executives, all judicial officers and the state superintendent of public instruction. Officers elected on a partisan basis are chosen in the fall and include county administrative officials, members of the legislature, state constitutional officers except the state superintendent, and members of Congress. Not all of these officers are elected at every election.

In presidential election years the presidential preference vote is held at the spring election, while the vote for president occurs at the general (November) election. At some elections, the Wisconsin voters are also asked to advise the state legislature or local legislative bodies on matters of public policy (referenda) or to ratify or reject a proposed law or an amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution.

The Wisconsin Electorate

Size of the Electorate. Because Wisconsin does not maintain a statewide register of voters, the exact size of the electorate is unknown. On April 1, 1970, when the minimum voting age was still 21, Wisconsin population 21 and over numbered 2,593,018, but not all of these were qualified to vote in Wisconsin elections. Since 1,343,160 votes were cast for governor in that year, it can be assumed that about 52 percent of the eligible voters participated in the election. This low turn-out may be typical for an "off year" election; only 2 years earlier, when the election for governor coincided with a vote for U.S. president, 1,689,601 votes were cast for governor in the November election.

The 1970 census gives the Wisconsin population age persons 18, 19 and 20 as 241,070, thus increasing the number of voting age to 2,834,088. Since 1,851,997 votes were cast for president in 1972, it can be assumed that about 65 percent of the eligible voters participated in the election. There were 2,104,175 votes cast for president in 1976.

Age Requirements. Under Article III of the Wisconsin Constitution, "every person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards" may vote in Wisconsin if he or she fulfills certain other requirements. The legislature may extend the suffrage by law, but the law would not become effective until approved by a vote on it at the general election. The 21-year voting provision, however, became obsolete with the adoption of the 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The 26th Amendment ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states in 1971 (including Wisconsin), extended the right to vote to those 18 years and over. Thus, regardless of the wording of the Wisconsin Constitution, the voting age in this state is now 18 for all elections.

Residence Requirements. One of the voting requirements is residence. In Wisconsin state and local elections, the privilege of voting is granted to citizens of the United States who have resided in the state and election district or ward for 10 days. A person's residence is defined as "the place where his habitation is fixed, without any present intent to move, and to which, when absent, he intends to return".

New residents who otherwise qualify as voters are permitted to vote for president and vice-president, regardless of how short a time they have been Wisconsin residents. Beginning with the 1964 presidential election, exresidents of Wisconsin who moved within 24 months preceding the election to another state have been permitted to vote for presidential electors in Wisconsin unless they had meanwhile become eligible to vote in another state. In accordance with federal law, U.S. citizens living in a foreign country may vote in federal elections in Wisconsin if they last resided here before leaving the United States.

History of the Suffrage. When Wisconsin became a state in 1848, suffrage was restricted to white (and emancipated Indian) male residents including immigrants not yet naturalized. A referendum approved in November of 1849 extended suffrage to colored male residents. In 1908, the Wisconsin Constitution was amended to restrict the right to vote to citizens of the United States. Women's suffrage came with the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution (ratified by Wisconsin on June 10, 1919).

Voter Registration. Based on a constitutional amendment ratified in 1882, the Wisconsin Legislature "may provide for the registration of electors". Today, voter registration in Wisconsin is by law required for every town, village or city with a population of more than 5,000 and may by local ordinance be adopted for municipalities of having a population of 5,000 or less. Municipal voter registration in Wisconsin does not record the party affiliation of the voter. Chapter 85, Laws of 1975, provided for voter registration by mail, registration at the polls on election day and removal of the 6-month, state residency requirement. The residency change was also approved by the electorate, as required by the Constitution, in a November 1976 referendum.

Selection of Candidates

Primaries. Election to public office requires 3 distinct steps: the selection of possible candidates, the nomination of candidates in a primary, and the election of officeholders in the general election.

Until "Fighting Bob" La Follette became governor of our state, candidates for public office were selected at caucuses or conventions composed of delegates, of members of a political party, or of eligible voters. Contrary to popular belief, the Wisconsin nominating caucuses did not imply political deals hatched in smoke-filled rooms — the caucuses were subject to legal regulations equally as stringent as our modern election laws.

In most instances, candidates are chosen today in primary elections; the nominating caucus remains as an optional method for the selection of town and village office candidates. In all other cases, aspirants to elective office circulate nomination papers to be signed by a specified number of voters in the constituency.

Primary elections are held in Wisconsin to determine the candidates for both the partisan "general elections" held in November and for the nonpartisan "spring elections" held in April. The spring primary is held on the third Tuesday in February; the fall primary, the second Tuesday in September.

Partisan September Primary. Primaries are held, regardless of the number of aspirants, to select the candidates of each political party for each partisan general election. Since the purpose of a partisan primary is to nominate the candidates that a political party will run against the nominees of the other party in the general election, only the adherents of a particular party are expected to vote in that party's primary. Wisconsin's "open primary" law makes the choice a private matter; that is, the voter does not have to make a public declaration of his party affiliation to receive the ballot of that party (a closed primary). Instead, he is given the ballots of all parties, but votes his choices on one party's ballot only. He cannot select candidates at random from several ballots.

In partisan primaries, the nominee receiving the highest number of votes becomes his party's candidate for the office, but a write-in candidate qualifies only if the vote for him also equals at least 5 percent of the party vote for governor cast in the district at the last general election, or the number of signatures required on nomination papers for the office, whichever is greater.

The only other partisan officers chosen are party ward committeemen, who are elected at September primaries in even-numbered years. Ward committeemen cannot be elected by write-in vote. Party ward committeemen recommend names of electors to be appointed election officials by the governing body of each town, village, and city.

Nonpartisan February Primary. Nonpartisan primaries are required only under certain conditions. If 3 or more candidates run for state superintendent, county supervisor, any judicial office, or certain other offices, a primary election must be held and the names of the 2 candidates receiving the greatest number of votes are placed on the ballots for the nonpartisan election. This is also applicable to municipalities adopting the system of nominating candidates by primary election. In nonpartisan primaries, the 2 aspirants receiving the highest number of votes for a specific office are selected as the candidates for that office in the nonpartisan final election.

Presidential Preference Vote. On the first Tuesday in April of each presidential election year, Wisconsin voters are given an opportunity to express their preference for the person to be the presidential candidate of their party.

Meeting on the first Tuesday in February of that year, a bipartisan committee certifies to the Elections Board the names of all nationally advocated or recognized candidates to be placed on the ballot. The members of the committee consist of the state chairman and the national committeeman and committeewoman from each party entitled to a separate ballot or column, the speaker of the Assembly, the president pro tempore of the Senate and the minority leader of each house of the legislature. An additional member is elected by the committee and serves as chairman. Any potential candidate may withdraw his name from the ballot by filing a disclaimer with the Elections Board, no later than the last day in February, that "he is not and does not intend to become a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the forthcoming presidential election". Other candidates may be placed on the ballot by filing nomination petitions with the Elections Board, signed by a specified percentage of qualified electors, by the first Tuesday in March. In addition, the ballot of each major party provides space for a write-in vote.

There is no filing of delegate lists prior to the primary. After the results of the primary are determined, each state organization selects as many delegates or alternates as are permitted or allotted by the party's national committee. Delegates must be pledged to represent the presidential candidate in accordance with the primary vote. However, the presidential candidate has until June 10 to review this slate of delegates and replace any of the recommended list with his own choices. Not less than two-thirds of the convention votes must be designated by congressional districts. The total number of delegates and convention votes allocated to each state is not determined by state law, but by the national committee of each party and is based on the number of congressional districts and the prior voting record of the state. Unless prevented by the death of the candidate, delegates must pledge to vote in accordance with the results of the presidential preference vote on the first and subsequent ballots until the candidate to whom they are pledged either fails to obtain at least one-third of the authorized convention vote or until that candidate releases the delegates. Thereafter, the Wisconsin delegates may support any other candidates of their choice.

The Wisconsin presidential preference primary is also an open primary. In order to reduce the temptation of crossover voting, each ballot provides for a protest "no" vote against the candidate or slate of candidates listed on that ballot. If a plurality of the voters in any district or the state at large casts their ballots for "none of the names shown", or against the single name shown on the ballot, the voluntary party organization selects the delegates to attend the national convention as an uninstructed delegation.

Elections

The Partisan "General" November Elections. From among the candidates chosen at the partisan primaries in September, the people of Wisconsin select, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each even-numbered year, the elected officials of the state and its counties. The choice is between the single candidates for each political party who received the highest number of votes for a particular office in the partisan primaries; possibly there might also be a few "independent" candidates. "Write-in" votes can be cast for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot.

In each presidential election year, each political party's nominees for state and legislative offices, state officers and the holdover state senators hold a convention in the state Capitol on the first Tuesday in October to nominate their party's slate of presidential electors for president and vice-president. Though the names of the electors no longer appear on the presidential ballots, every vote cast for the names of the candidates for president and vice-president of each party is a vote for each of the electors committed to that slate. The electors of the presidential slate receiving the greatest number of votes become members of the "electoral college" and meet after the election to cast the vote officially for president and vice-president in Wisconsin. Wisconsin had 12 electoral votes in 1968; because of the reduction of its congressional districts from 10 to 9, the number of its electoral college votes in 1972 and 1976 was 11.

The constitutional offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general are filled from the state at large. The constitutional officers are elected for 4-year terms in the general elections two years after each U.S. presidential election. At every general election, a representative in Congress is elected from each of the congressional districts and a representative to the Assembly from each of the Assembly districts. United States senators, who serve 6 years, are also chosen at the general election. The 33 state senators are elected for 4 years -one-half at each general election from the odd-numbered or even-numbered Senate districts. A clerk, treasurer, sheriff, clerk of circuit court, district attorney, and register of deeds are elected biennially from each of the 72 counties in the state, and approximately one-half of the counties elect a surveyor and all but 2 counties elect a coroner. Eau Claire and Milwaukee have a medical examiner system. Article VI, Section 4 of the Wisconsin Constitution, ratified in April 1965, abolished the offices of county coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more, while a 1972 amendment allowed counties below 500,000 the option of retaining the office of coroner or instituting a medical examining system. In lieu of electing a county surveyor, Section 59.12 of the Wisconsin Statutes authorizes county boards to designate any registered land surveyor, employed by the county, to perform the duties of the county surveyor.

Vacancies in the offices of representatives in Congress, state senators, and representatives to the Assembly may be filled by special election only. Vacancies in the office of U.S. senator may be filled by appointment until they can be filled at a general election. Vacancies in state constitutional offices and county offices are filled by appointment except that the lieutenant governor constitutionally succeeds the governor in case of a vacancy in the office of governor (the secretary of state is third in line of succession). Appointments to fill vacancies on the state level and for most county offices are made by the governor.

Nonpartisan April Elections. Nonpartisan elections are held on the first Tuesday of April for state superintendent of public instruction, judicial officers, county executive officers, town, village and city officers, county supervisors, and school board members. The terms of office vary, so only certain offices are voted on each year. The only nonpartisan offices voted for on a statewide basis are state superintendent and justices of the Supreme Court; all others are elected from the county, district, or municipality represented. In addition to the Supreme Court, consisting of 7 justices, there is a Court of Appeals, elected at large from one of the 4 appellate districts, with 3 judges from each district, for staggered 6-year terms. In addition, pursuant to 1978 legislation enacted by the Wisconsin Legislature, the state is provided with a "single level" trial court system, consisting of 190 circuit judges (the former county judges are denominated as circuit judges). Circuit court boundaries are revised so that each county will be a circuit with the exception of the following 3 combined county districts: Buffalo-Pepin, Shawano-Menominee and Forest-Florence. Individual county circuit courts are comprised of varying numbers of branches.

The governor has power to fill by temporary appointment vacancies which might occur in nonpartisan state elective offices. Many of the state's judges first achieved judicial office through appointment by the governor; thus, gubernatorial appointments to a considerable extent determine the composition of the Wisconsin judiciary.

Constitutional Amendments; Referenda; Recall

Referenda. The voters of Wisconsin have the right of initiative and referendum only on the local level. However, on the state level the Wisconsin Legislature may submit matters to a statewide advisory referendum. Occasionally, the legislature has passed laws which become effective only if approved by the voters; the most recent example of this was a 1977 law to permit all qualified voters of Wisconsin to vote for president and vice-president regardless of the length of their residency, and to permit U.S. citizens who are living in a foreign country to vote in federal election in Wisconsin if they last resided in this state before leaving this country, as required by federal law.

The other most recent statewide referenda submitted to the voters were those asking if they favored the issuance of bonds by the state for an accelerated water pollution abatement program and for an expansion of the state's land acquisition program. They were approved in April 1969. Another referendum at the same election, however, inquiring whether the state should control and fund vocational education, was turned down.

Municipalities also have the right to submit referenda questions, upon petition, relating to village and city charter ordinances and other subjects affecting the government of the municipalities.

In addition, all proposed amendments to the Constitution must be ratified by the people before they can become effective. Thus, the voters of Wisconsin may be asked at an election to approve a change in the state Constitution or express their preference on a matter of public policy. With one exception, all questions have been submitted by the legislature to the electorate at "spring elections" in April or "general elections" in November. One referendum, relating to a World War I soldiers' bonus, was submitted at the 1919 September primary and was approved by the electors.

Constitutional Amendments. The procedure for amending the state constitution is adoption of an identical amendment by 2 consecutive legislatures and ratification of the amendment by a majority vote of the people at a subsequent election.

In recent years the electorate has voted on a number of constitutional amendments. For example, in 1974, 3 constitutional amendments were submitted to the voters and all 3 were ratified. In 1975, 2 amendments were ratified allowing public debt for veterans' housing and repealing of the disenfranchisement for dueling, and 2 were rejected regarding internal improvements for transportation facilities and exclusion of certain debt from municipal debt limits. In 1976, the amendment regarding internal improvements for transportation facilities was resubmitted to the electorate and defeated, as was an amendment authorizing an increase in municipal indebtedness. In the April 1977 election, 2 proposals relating to raffle games and court reform were ratified. The latter proposal regarding court reform raised 4 different questions and, therefore, the voters were required to vote on each proposition separately. All 4 questions were adopted. In the April 1978 election, an amendment to require the Legislature to establish one or more systems of town government was defeated. In the April 1979 election, an amendment consisting of 4 separate questions was ratified providing for gubernatorial succession, filling a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, selection of the Senate's presiding officer, and making miscellaneous revisions to clarify the text.

Recall. The Wisconsin Constitution and statutes also provide for the recall of elective officers after the first year of a term through a process of petition and special election.

The Mechanics of the Election Process

Certifying candidates, registering voters, and recording, tallying and reporting the votes of 2 million people is a complex process. Who handles it? First of all, the process is guided by explicit state laws. Detailed specifications concerning the content of the ballot, for example, are set forth in the statutes. The Wisconsin Elections Board, which administers the election laws for the state, prepares all official ballot forms and other election forms, promulgates rules for the use of voting machines, certifies to each county clerk the list of candidates for state offices, and performs other duties pertaining to elections.

For the potential voter, the election process begins when he registers to vote with the clerk of his municipality or — in Milwaukee — with the city Board of Election Commissioners. Registration is optional for municipalities having a population of 5,000 or less. A voter's registration is permanent unless he moves; then he must reregister.

County clerks are responsible for preparing the ballots to be used for the election of all offices on the county level or above, and for distribution of them to the municipal clerks; municipal clerks supervise registration and elections in their municipalities; in cities or counties over 500,000 population, election duties are performed by a city board of election commissioners and a county board of election commissioners.

On election day at each polling place, there are normally stationed 3 inspectors, 2 elections clerks, and — unless voting machines are used — 2 ballot clerks. The law requires all cities and villages having a population of 10,000 or more to use voting machines. Each political party may also appoint 2 observers and alternates for each ward. Certain candidates and nonpartisan and bipartisan groups may also appoint observers. A voter who cannot come to the polling place on election day, either because of absence from the municipality or disability, may vote by absentee ballot.

When the polls close, the inspectors canvass the votes and deliver one tally sheet statement and registration or poll list each to the county clerk and to the municipal clerk. The county clerk and 2 citizens appointed by him (including one from another political party) constitute the county board of canvassers, which examines the returns. One statement of the results is filed in the county clerk's office; another statement, to which is attached a tabulation of votes cast as each polling place for each candidate, goes to the state Elections Board. The county clerk also issues certificates of election to the elected officials within the county.

The Board of State Canvassers, consisting of the chairman of the Elections Board, state treasurer, and attorney general, meet after each election to examine the certified statements of the county canvassers. The board makes a statement of the votes cast for each office and determines who has been elected. The Elections Board then issues certificates of election to all officials elected to a state office.

Campaign Financing

The regulation of campaign financing in Wisconsin was substantially revised by Chapter 334, Laws of 1973, with the intent of furnishing the voters with complete information as to who is supporting or opposing which candidate or cause and to what extent, either directly or indirectly. Chapter 11 of the Wisconsin Statutes regulates campaign financing, while Chapter 12 defines prohibited election practices. Chapter 11 was augmented by the 1977 Wisconsin Legislature, which created a system of public grants for the campaigns of eligible candidates for state offices.

Contributions and Disbursements. Every political party committee, other political committee or political group who makes or accepts contributions or makes disbursements in an amount exceeding $25 per year, and an individual who accepts contributions or makes disbursements in an amount exceeding $25 per year files a verified statement with the appropriate filing officer (the Elections Board in the case of state or national officers or a statewide referendum). A candidate must file a statement for any amount. The statement includes such items as the name and address of the committee or individual, the officers, the campaign depository, and of the candidates supported or opposed; the purpose of the committee; source of the registrant's income; and purposes for which disbursements are expected to be made.

Subsequently, such committees, groups or individuals must file full reports of all contributions received, obligations incurred and disbursements made, including the name, address and total contribution of each contributor donating over $20; an itemization of disbursements over $20 to other registrants; and a separate statement giving the name, address, employment, place of employment and contribution of any contributor donating more than $100 in any calendar year. Nonresident committees, groups or individuals making contributions or disbursements in this state must also file their names and addresses and that of a designated agent in the state with the secretary of state.

Single Campaign Treasurer. Each candidate must appoint one campaign treasurer and designate one campaign depository before receiving any contributions or making any disbursements. Each candidate or the treasurer acting on his behalf must file a verified statement and file periodic financial reports, for which the candidate is responsible as to correctness.

Contribution by Negotiable Instrument. All campaign contributions exceeding $50 must be made by check or other negotiable instrument, so that the origin is known and, similarly, all campaign disbursements must be made by negotiable instrument. Anonymous contributions exceeding $10 cannot be expended but must be donated either to a charity or to the common school fund. All contributions must be made in the name of the contributor.

Duties of the Elections Board. The Elections Board furnishes candidates and committees with forms for making reports, furnishes manuals setting forth recommended methods of bookkeeping and reporting, compiles and maintains a current list of all reports and statements pertaining to such candidate, individual, committee or group, and prepares special reports. It may include in its annual report total contributions and expenditures of candidates and committees, amounts over $100 contributed by contributors, and additional data. It investigates violations of the election laws and must notify the district attorney or the governor of any facts within its knowledge or evidence in its possession that might be grounds for civil action or criminal prosecution.

Similar requirements are made with regard to financial reporting in local elections.

Limitations on Contributions. Limitations are imposed upon the amount that may be received by candidates. No one individual (except a candidate) may contribute more than the specified amounts to any of the following candidates and any individual or voluntary committee supporting him: constitutional administrative officers (governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction), and Supreme Court justice — $10,000; state senator — $1,000; representative to the Assembly — $500; and all other state and local candidates — a limit which varies between $250 and $3,000 depending upon the office. Furthermore, no individual may make a contribution for all candidates in excess of $10,000 in any calendar year.

No committee other than a political party committee may make any contributions to a candidate for one of the constitutional administrative offices, justice of the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals judge of more than 4 percent of the candidate's disbursement level specified by law; nor may such a committee make contributions to candidates for other state and local offices in excess of monetary limits specified by law. Such a committee may not make any contributions to all such candidates and individuals or voluntary committees supporting or opposing them in excess of $50,000 in any biennium. No committee other than a political party committee may make any contributions to all candidates for state or local office other than the above in excess of $30,000 in any biennium.

No political party may receive more than $25,000 of its contributions in any calendar year from all other committees, nor more than $3,000 from any specific committee or its subunits. No committee other than a political party committee may make any contribution to a political party exceeding $3,000.

No candidate may receive more than 65 percent of the total authorized disbursement level specified by law from all other committees, including political party committees. Of this amount, not more than 45 percent may be received from special interest committees.

Disbursements cannot be made anonymously, nor can contributions or disbursements be made in a fictitious name. The source of all political advertisements shall appear thereon.

Public Campaign Financing. Under Chapter 107, Laws of 1977, a campaign fund was created in the state treasury consisting of general tax revenues from each person filing a state income tax return who specifies that $1 shall be set aside for this fund. The fund is available to candidates for statewide executive and judicial offices, as well as legislative offices, for use after the primary, provided that they obtain a specified number of votes in the primary and they raise a specified initial amount of private contributions from individuals in amounts of $100 or less. Participants must agree to accept spending limits and limits placed on personal contributions to their own campaigns in order to receive moneys from the fund. The fund is apportioned by office in accordance with a specified formula. Moneys accepted count towards the maximum limit of 45 percent of a candidate's spending limit which may be accepted from special interest committees, thereby substantially limiting this source of contributions for those who participate. The act also made spending limits (which apply only to candidates who accept moneys from the fund) subject to an automatic cost of living adjustment. This, in turn, impacts on certain contribution limitations which are figured as percentages of the disbursement levels. Moneys from the fund may be used only for advertising in communications media, printing, office supplies and postage; other campaign expenses must be privately financed.

Prohibited Election Practices

Chapter 12 of the statutes lists prohibited election practices, such as practices involving bribery, fraud, election threats, and illegal actions of election officials.

GUBERNATORIAL SUCCESSION

Amending Art. IV, Sec. 9; Art. V, Secs. 1, 1m, 1n, 7 and 8;
Art. VI, Secs. 1, 1m, 1n, and 1p; Art. XIII, Sec. 10.

1977 SJR 51; 1979 SJR 1; Adopted April 3, 1979

The following changes in the Wisconsin Constitution regarding gubernatorial succession, lieutenant governor vacancy, Senate presiding officer and making the 4-year terms more understandable were adopted by the 1977 and 1979 Wisconsin Legislatures and ratified by the electorate on April 3, 1979. The 1979 Legislature, in adopting the joint resolution on second consideration, separated the amendment proposal into 4 separate questions, relating to the above subjects, for submittal to the voters. The ballot questions and the voting totals relating thereto immediately follow the text of the constitutional changes.

[Article XIII] Section 10. (1) The legislature may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also the manner of filling the vacancy, where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

(2) Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, the governor shall nominate a successor to serve for the balance of the unexpired term, who shall take office after confirmation by the senate and by the assembly.

Ballot Questions:

The proposition, in its four parts, appeared on the ballot as follows:

Gubernatorial succession. Shall sections 7 and 8 (except the first sentence thereof) of article V of the constitution be amended so that the lieutenant governor, or the secretary of state if there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, succeeds to the office of governor as "governor" whenever there is a permanent vacancy, but continues to serve in the office as "acting governor" wherever the vacancy is temporary?

Lieutenant governor vacancy. Shall section 10 of article XIII of the constitution be amended so that, whenever there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, the successor nominated by the governor requires confirmation by the state senate and assembly before assuming the duties of the office?

Senate presiding officer. Shall section 9 of article IV of the constitution be amended, and shall the first sentence of section 8 of article V of the constitution be repealed, to eliminate the lieutenant governor's function as senate presiding officer and to permit the state senate, instead, to select its presiding officer from among its members?

Making the 4-year terms understandable. Shall section 1 of article V and section 1 of article VI of the constitution be amended, and shall sections 1m and 1n of article V and sections 1m, 1n, and 1p of article VI of the constitution be repealed, to make it more understandable that constitutional officers in this state have been elected to 4-year terms since 1970?
